"Jio" HEARD FROM .-- From Mr. "Ino" Heard From.—From Mr. Thomas Quinlan, who recently returned from Truckee, we learn the following: John I Ginn and his companion arrived at Truckee last Monday morning and proceeded to purchase an outfit for their perilous trip through the Sierras. As no animals would go where the hardy prospectors are bound for. Indians had to be hired to pack the grab, blankets, is., and they would not "move a peg" until they were supplied with the necessary clothing and a pair of shoes each. Two stalwart "bucks" were employed, and all hands started through the anowy range, buoyant and hopeful. Truckee is now full of visitors, and it is almost impossible get a bed in the town.—[Virginia Chronicle.

THE OCCUPANTS OF SPACE. - The number of stars visible to the naked eye, in the entire circuit of heavens, has been usually estimated at about 6,000; an ordinary opera glass will exhibit something like ten times that number; a comparatively opera glass will exhibit something like ten times that number; a comparatively small telescope casily shows 200,000; while there are telescopes in existence with which, there is reason to believe, not less than 25,000,000 stars are visible. And yet when all of these are seen and numbered, the eye will have visited but a mere speck in the illimitable bounds of space.

"THE Pope he leads a jolly life," ac "The Pope he leads a jolly life," according to the song. Contrariwise, it is said that one reason of Pins IX's long life and good health is doubtless the simplicity of his table and his abstinence from everything he finds injurious. He scarcely allows any condiments in his food, excepting, however, tomato—, of which he is so fond that he always gives the order which a Florentine gentleman always promulgates on the arrival of a new cook: "Be sure that you put tomatoes in everything but the coffee."
